From the Headmaster's Desk

Dear Parents

During this time when so many things seem to have been taken from us, we often find our perspective and inspiration from the most unexpected sources. This was no different to me, when I very unexpectedly received the following from a long lost friend. It is so powerful and I honestly love the words.

These words are taken from poet William Martin, and it reads as follows:

" Do not ask your children to strive for extraordinary lives.

Such striving may seem admirable, but it is the way of foolishness.

Help them instead to find the wonder and the marvel of an ordinary life.

Show them the joy of tasting tomatoes, apples and pears.

Show them how to cry when pets and people die.

Show them the infinite pleasure in the touch of a hand.

And make the ordinary come alive for them.

The extraordinary will take care of itself."

Very inspirational indeed! May you all have the opportunity to find joy in the smallest and most precious of things this weekend.
